CATHOLIC UNIVERSITY BEATS GEORGETOWN

Green a Puzzle, Allowing But Three Hits, While Flannery Is Driven From Box.

That the ball tossers of the Catholic University of America have a team that has to be given some consideration in college ranks was clearly shown yesterday afternoon when the Georgetown University team was taken into camp to the tune of 9 to 1.

It was the first time in the history of the Brookland institution that a team from that place has secured a victory over Georgetown. Before the game was started the Blue and Gray boys knew they would be up against no easy proposition, as the Brookland citizens have been playing great ball and recently took two games from Swarthmore College. The Catholic University team was well supported by rooters, who occupied the east stands, while Georgetown was supported by students and alumni in the north stand. For the first time this season the Georgetown followers displayed some enthusiasm and let out many yells for the team in an effort to bring home the bacon, but it was to no avail, as the visitors had the Indian sign on the Blue Flannery Fails.

Flannery was selected to down the Brooklanders, but he was not equal to the occasion, as in the only round he performed he allowed three hits, one of which was a triple. He also hit a batter. "Smoke" Balzer was called out at the beginning of the second inning and he proved little better, although he held his opponents well in hand until the seventa, when they scored more runs.

Green, who has seen considerable service in amateur circles about the District. mounted the rubber for the Catholic University team, and Georgetown never had a look in, as he held it to three hits. two of which were made by Gibson and the other by Connelly, who batted for Balzer in the ninth inning and then scored the lone run. Seven batters were sent back on strikes by him, while four were given free transportation.

as out of five trips to the pan he planted three safe drives. Two of them were for three sacks and the other a single. Mc-Donnell landed for three safeties out of Kelly had an off day at the short field, as of the six chances which went his way he fell down on four of them. Tobin at second and "Dutch" Hessler on the initial sack played fine games. For Georgetown Sitterding at short, Menefee behind the pan and Freeman on the initial sack played well. Got Good Start.

The winners started the scoring in the first round. With one down, Widmayer Tobin looked them over for several deliveries and then connected for a drive over Murphy's head and landed safely on third, with Widmayer crossing the pan for the first run. third, with Widmayer crossing the pan for the first run. After Hessler had been hit and stole second McDonnell placed the pellet in left for one sack, sending the two runners in. Kelly hit to Gibson, who made a mess of the play in trying to get McDonnell at second, and both were safe. Clancey bunted down toward Cogan, and the latter in throwing home to catch Mc-Donnell heaved the leather into the bleachers and two runners scored. next two were easy outs.

The next run came in the second for the winners. With one out of the way Balzer passed Widmayer. Tobin took a liking to one of "Smoke's" benders, as he did with Flannery, and planted it over Dugan's head for three sacks, but he overran the bag and was thrown out. Widmayer having scored on the drive.

The other runs were made in the seventh. Tobin got his third hit on a single to center. Hessler hit to Balzer, who threw wild to second in an effort to get landed on third. McDonnell fanned. Kelly hit to Balzer, who made a wild heave to first, and Hessler scored. Kelly stole second. Clancy flied out to Dugan. hit, but threw wild to Feenan and Kelly

The only run for Georgetown came in the final round after the first two batters had fanned. Brownie Forman, the young twirler who spring, may rejoin the Nationals in the of the summer. His contract failed to reach him this spring, and, being new at the business, Forman came to the conclusion that he was not wanted down here. As a result, he tied himself up to a contract with a college at Indiana, Pa., that carries to the 1st of July, Robertson and Bragg Have and when he is through there he will report to Manager McAleer if wanted. The little fellow has plenty of nerve, and caught McAleer's fancy as he worked against the Browns last fall. Forman, of course, has little chance of getting a regular job with the Nationals unless the pitching staff goes to pieces, but, at that, McAleer would like to look him over and he may report later in the season.

DEMPSEY SELECTS GEORGETOWN CREWS

Line-Ups of Eights for Early Races Decided on Yesterday by the Coach.

Coach P. A. Dempsey of the Georgetown crews yesterday afternoon made up the two varsity and one prep eight, which, in all probability, will represent the Blue and Gray on the water this season. In making his selections, however. the veteran aquatic mentor takes the opportunity to say that changes in individual positions may be made at any time and he has told those at present in the second boat that as soon as any one of them displays sufficient improvement he will be promoted to the varsity.

The combining of the crews is the result of two weeks of experimenting, in which time a great many practice brushes have been run off between the different eights. Probably the most surprising change which has been made in that time is the replacing of Capt. Murray by Cunniff in the varsity stroke seat. The latter seems now to be the logical man to retain that position, at least until after the Navy and Henley races, both of which are over short courses. His experience in short races while in the prep school has proven a great asset to him against Capt. Murray, who has had no real work in the way of pace setting.

Immediately behind Cunniff in the first boat are Dailey and Stohlman, thus making the varsity stern three the same as that of last year's freshman boat. Coultry, the Potomac man, has been placed at No. 5, completing the strobe rour, which is now composed of four heavy and experienced oarsmen.

The bow four is stroked by Capt. Murray, with Langan, Johet and Carroll foilowing in the order named. Murray is the only one of the eight who has had Poughkeepsie experience. Joliet rowed on the Preps in 1907, while both of the other two are new at the game. Kelly, at the rudder strings, is the smallest man in the school and has also done steersman stunts in the past.

Carr Stroking Juniors.

The second varsity is being stroked by Crosby, an old freshman sweephandler, is holding down No. 7, while McQuail, an ex-prep star, is rowing at No. 6. Mac-Cormack, bow of the freshmen eight last season, has been moved up to No. 5. The next position is at present being scrapped for by Power and Corcoran, both of whom have had much previous experience, but are at present out of condition on account of illness. Needham, at No. 3, is the only new man in the line-up, both Frankheim and Graham, who are rowing No. 2 and No. 1, respectively, having been in the prep shell last season.

The prep crew this year is made up of Hawkins, stroke; Capt. Brady, No. 7; Maas, No. 6; Jones, No. 5; Dilkes, No. 4; Rodriguez, No. 3; Revel, No. 2, and Sullivan, bow. Kelly and Vanneman are scrapping for the coxswain's seat. Only three of these men, Capt. Brady, Rod-riguez and Hawkins, rowed last year. The others, however, are all of good size, and as the bunch is a scrappy one there is no doubt that it will be able to care for itself when called on.

The remaining preps and a couple of varsity men make up the pirates. This boat is for the most part composed of green men, whose worth will be more evident another season than this.

These three crews will be sent over a mile course in a practice race against the Potomacs this morning and from now on will be given the hardest kind of work every day. The rough water during the past week was somewhat disagreeable to the men, but it was hailed with delight by the coach, who grasped the opportunity for letting his charges get a taste of what they may expect when they row at Annapolis May 14.

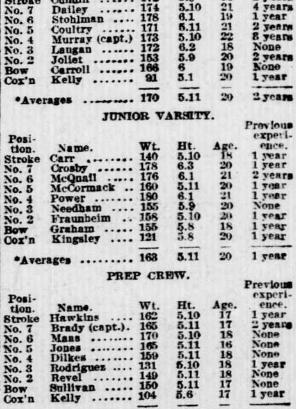

New Shell Here.

The new rowing shell from Ward of row. It will immediately be rigged and, if possible, it will receive its first launch-Dempsey, which were laid according to a model combining the best features of the old Blue and Gray racing craft and the present racing boat of the Potomacs.

The continued delay in the installing of the new engine in the coaching launch Robert Collier has proven a source of much worry to the Hilltop management. The delay has been occasioned by the manufacturers, who have failed in making a prompt delivery. An exchange of telegrams last week, however, seemed to insure that the present week would see the speed motorboat in condition for use. Manager Byrnes has been very much put out during the past week by rumors that the varsity crew would not race at Poughkeepsie this year. He parallel bars. The participants were all said yesterday that the entry of the of the local Y. M. C. A. Moorman and eight has been made for some time, and he also declared that the financial end had already been provided for. The students of the university will raise part of the money with a ministrel show at the Belasco May 7, and the rest has been subscribed by the alumni. The picking of the crews has been the signal for even more severe training than that insisted on in the past, and the men are now being kept under constant supervision. In doing this a close watch is being kept on the weights of the different men, and when
